1. Introduction

Private and voluntary sector employers must follow the Equality Act 2010 (Gender Pay Gap Information) Regulations 2017. Public sector employers not listed in Schedule 2 above must also follow these regulations. If a private or voluntary sector employer (or a public sector employer not listed in Schedule 2) has 250 or more employees on 5 April, they must publish their data by 4 April of the following year.

The information is based on a snapshot date of 5 April 2021. The gender pay gap shows the difference in the average pay between all men and women in the workforce. If a workforce has a high pay gap this can indicate issues within the organisation and the calculations can help identify the issues.

Gender pay gap is not the same as equal pay which is defined as pay differences between gender when carrying out the same roles/jobs of equal value.

This report complies with the requirements of government legislation regarding content and publication.

2. Scope of the report

3.2 Gender Pay Gap in Hourly Pay

Mean

The mean is the average calculated by dividing the sum of all female and male rates of pay and dividing by the number.

The mean gender pay gap in hour is the difference between the female mean hourly pay, and the male mean hourly pay.

The Active Northumberland mean gender pay gap in hour pay as a percentage is 5.65%. The percentage figure has increased from the previous year's, which stood at 4.19%.

Median

The median is the midpoint of a range of values. In this case, the mid hourly pay point for both males and females employed within the organisation.

The median gender pay gap in hourly pay is the difference between male median hourly pay and female median hourly pay.

The Active Northumberland mean gender pay gap in hour pay as a percentage is 6.76%.

Although the gender pay gap between male and female employees within the organisation is low, at present females are still the higher percentage of employees whilst males still have higher earnings. This is a result of employed males having jobs that are at higher grades relating to the skills and knowledge required for the role.

5. Conclusion

To conclude, the Gender Pay Gap data analysis of Active Northumberland depicts there are concerns regarding male employees earning more than females even though there are a higher number of females employed.

The bonus payments reflect job evaluation as anomalies with job evaluation having resulted in the review taking longer than expected.

Moving forward, Active Northumberland are committed to reducing the gender pay gap to lower percentages until such a time that any pay gap is negligible.

6. Monitoring Arrangements

Actions will be monitored by the organisation's Board on an annual basis.

7. Publication Arrangements

The Gender Pay Gap annual report will be published on Active Northumberland's website and will be made internally available for all employees. This annual report will also be published on the government website, to meet legislative requirements.
